Mission Statement

To support adults with physical and mental disabilities to preserve and maintain their dignity, independence and individuality and enable them access to services that will enrich their quality of life

These are some of the comments that we have recently received from Richmond Court:

"We certainly use and abuse it"

"We have found it to be brilliant for distraction techniques"

"It's so interesting to observe how residents react to it"

"It's so user friendly that the residents can easily use it themselves, independently. It's their choice!"

"We have found RITA very, very, very beneficial"

"The residents love the seated exercises"

Language Barriers

"There was one lady who was very distressed for an awful amount of the time. She was Punjabi speaking and there was a very difficult language barrier between herself and the staff which seemingly would increase the lady's distress and anxiety. Through using RITA, the staff were able to link to YouTube and find content that the resident could relate to. They found a Punjabi movie and the shift in the resident's mood was drastic. She was much calmer, relaxed and happy! The staff wouldn't have been able to achieve such a drastic reduction in agitation by themselves."
